SUSTAINABLE & SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP FOR YOUTH

March 2025

Issue #4

"All things come to an end, but it's the journey that leaves a lasting impact."

Thank you for being part of our journey!

As the SUSE project comes to a close, it's a moment of reflection and celebration. What began as an ambitious initiative to empower youth and youth workers with the skills to create social and sustainable businesses has blossomed into something much larger—a movement. Over the course of the project, countless young minds were ignited with entrepreneurial spirit, and youth workers were equipped with innovative tools to guide them on their journeys.

Through training modules, local competitions, and the support of passionate mentors and stakeholders, the project sparked creativity, collaboration, and a drive to create lasting change. Youth from all walks of life came together, pitching groundbreaking ideas that not only addressed social challenges but also embraced sustainability at their core.

Now, as the final phases are completed, the impact of SUSE will continue to ripple across communities. The competition outcomes, the lessons learned, and the networks formed will all serve as a foundation for the future. Though the project itself is ending, the legacy of empowerment, innovation, and sustainable entrepreneurship will carry on, as young changemakers step into their roles as leaders of tomorrow.

The SUSE project may be concluding, but its influence will resonate, inspiring a new generation to build a better, more inclusive world.
